

Skittle Lament

Oh when, oh when will we play skittles again ?

Not meeting my mates is becoming a pain.

To go to the pub for a cider or beer,

That's not going to happen at least for a year.

The washing of hands and wearing of masks,

We just want to play skittles, is that too much to ask ?

To meet with team mates and throw balls at some pins

Without even caring which team wins.

I feel lost in mid-week with nothing to do,

I'll start a new hobby, I'll try something new.

I've even tried baking to help pass the time

And drank many a bottles of red and white wine.

The alleys are closed now, all quiet and still,

We all miss our skittles, the banter, the thrill.

So please Mr Johnson before we all go insane,

Oh when, oh when can we play skittles again !
